“ To my beautiful sister, who would always check on me to see how I was feeling. And I would ask her how you're feeling she wouldn't never complain. I just can't believe we have to go on without our Beverly. Rest on my sister you fought so hard. I love you girl....

“ My heart is so broken. Beverly and I was not even a full year apart in age. We always laughed on my birthday that we were the same age for five days. She always fought my battles and shared her food with me while growing up (I was so greedy). She never complained about being sick, she would just say that she felt “pretty good.” Lord knows that she wasn’t feeling pretty good, but she didn’t want me to worry. I miss you sooo much. But, no more pain and suffering. I’m going to do the best that I can to be strong like you would want me to, Beverly. And I going to help look out for your children and grandchildren who were the love of your life. Rest easy my sister, you fought a good courageous fight, Love you 💔💔💔😭🙏🙏
