“ Aunt Pam I have that same Tattoo on my knee and toe. I remember I think it was about 5 years ago the family reunion at Aunt Betty and Uncle Dans house. This was the last time I got to see my Dad and the Moore family. Love all of you!

“ A memory that I'm sure the whole family remembers is Jimmy doing the family tattoo in his work shop. He used a needle wrapped with thread and dipped in Indian ink. He put a dot above the knee. Everyone lined up for the "Moore" dot. Every year as siblings had kids, he did grandkids and nephews and nieces. He learned his tattoo skills during his time in the Navy. RIP brother and fly high. I will miss our Hogs texting and messaging during games. Love, your baby sis, Pam

One memory that always comes to me at odd times. Me & Deana were visiting the family in Blytheville & Uncle Jimmy took us including a friend from IL to a night out at the Holiday Inn. There was music & dancing and an all around fun time. But what I remember most about that night is driving to his house afterwards & out of the blue he says, Pull over & let me out of this car, I'm gonna jump off this curb. We all laughed so hard. Ya had to be there. Sure glad I was. Thank you Uncle Jimmy for always making me laugh & keeping in touch with me over the years with your sweet texts & Facebook eagle videos. Rest in peace & give Mother a big kiss for me.

*Your Niece
