

Randall W. Raudonis

June 27, 1956 - May 26, 2020

Randall Wayne Raudonis of Godley, IL passed away in his home on May 26th at the age of 63.

His legacy is mostly know to those close to him; the way his clear blue eyes would sparkle when he told a joke, how he wanted the world for everyone he loved, and the empathy he gave to those in turmoil.

To his son and two grandchildren, Ziggy and Lulu, he passes down a great sense of humor, outstanding ear for good music, and a bleeding heart. His emotional intelligence and immense love will last for generations in his family.

Passed before him was his mother, Ellen "Dottie" Clow, with whom he battled wits with for decades, his father Dean Clow, and his sister Denise.

Surviving are his brothers Jim (Sandy) and Larry (Norma) Raudonis, who would fight constantly, but would defend each other until death. His sister Doreen (Mark) Atwood, who is rumored to have beaten Randy in an arm wrestling match. His sister Deanna (Mike) Smulterowicz, nieces and nephews Eva, Leah and William, and many friends he considered family. His Son, Danimal, and his two grandchildren, Ziggy and Lulu, who just want to hug him one more time.

“ Randy was a great friend and neighbor for the last 10+ years! He was like family to us! I'm sure going to miss going out on my deck and seeing him and waving and chatting a lot about baseball and the Cubs! Randy will sure be missed
