“ I met Vicki when she stayed at Miller Rehabilitation. I was her housekeeper while she was there. She was always someone I looked forward to seeing every day. During the summer while she was there she told me how much she wanted to eat some fresh picked corn on the cob. I brought her a bag of them and we sat and ate corn and talked. I have thought of her everyday since she left the facility. My prayers and condolences to the family and to her husband Bob.
